John Oley and Harold Crowley Taken Without House at Syracuse, N. Y.

By the Associated Press.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Nov. 17. John Oley and Harold Crowley, two of three convicted O'Connell kidnapers who escaped early yesterday from the Onondaga County jail at Jamesville, were captured today by police in a rooming house, without a fight. The third fugitive, Percy Geary, escaped.

Informed the gongsters' presence by a man they had forced to aid them, three policemen of the hun-dreds who had been making a nouse-to-house search for the fugitives went to a two-room apartment on the second floor of the lodging house, which is near the city's downtown business section. They found a key in the lock, walked in and discovered Oley and Crowley seated ni chairs, they reported. Or-dered to throw up their hands, the pair submitted "without a bit of trouble." Two pistols were found

At Albany, Chief Inspector Albert B. Moore of the State Police Bureau of Criminal Investigation said he was informed that Geary, who was also in the apartment, escaped by jumping 15 feet from a bathroom

Kearney relayed the request to Resistance in Rooming fy, whose crew was working in that neighborhood, and one day a another foreman, Lawrence J. Dufmonth ago a Street Department truck pulled up to the house and six workmen set about resurfacing the walk.

These were the findings Street Commissioner Edmund J. McMahon said yesterday, of an investigation he began after other property owners in the neighborhood, who always have repaired their own walks, asked why the home at 2135 East Warne "rated" such unusual attention. McMahon estimated the materials used were worth $4, although they would probably otherwise have been discarded as waste and the labor worth $6. And for their generosity, he ordered Duffy suspended without pay for four days and Kearney for two.

Leon Munson Seriously Wounded, Bar Owner Cut, After Row About Unions.

Leon Munson, a construction foreman, was shot and wounded seriously and Ameen Bodway, owner of a saloon at 1529 Park avenue, was cut several times at noon today, in a fight in front of Bodway's Silver Front Cafe, which started when the saloon keeper resented statements by a group of men that he was unfavorable to union labor.

Police, who hurried to the scene, found Munson on the sidewalk with a bullet wound in the abdomen. Bodway was bleeding from knife wounds in the neck and hips.

Bodway told police Munson and seven or eight companions came into his cafe during the lunch hour and accused him of employing nonunion men for repair work on the Bodway said he denied the charge and tried to explain that he had been a union bartender before going into business for himself. He went outside and the men followed and Munson attacked him with a knife while another member of the group drew a revolver, Bodway stated. He asserted he wrenched the revolver from the man's hand and fired three or four shots, one bullet striking Munson.

Police arrested four men for questioning.

At City Hospital, Munson said he was 32 years old, lived at 2336 Waritors, to send subscriptions direct to campaign headquarters in Hotel PWA job. # DISPLAYED RING OF MURDERED WOMA

"I Have Pretty Diamond Too," Paris (Mo.) Neigh bors Quote the Rev. C. E. Newton as Saying.

By ALVIN H. GOLDSTEIN, Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

PITTSFIELD, Ill., Nov. 17.-New vidence against the Rev. Colonel Ellsworth Newton was introduced this afternoon in the trial of the former Paris (Mo.) pastor, charged with the murder of Mrs. Maybelle Kelly, his friend and former parish-

Two woman neighbors, one of them a member of his former congregation, declared on the witness stand that the minister, a few hours after the State alleges Mrs. Kelly was beaten to death and her body thrown in the Mississippi River, displayed a diamond ring he was carrying in his pocketbook.

The testimony was admitted over strenuous objection by the defense, on the promise of the prosecutor to connect it with other testimony that Mrs. Kelly owned a ring simi lar to the one Newton displayed. The ring has not been seen since. Visited Neighbors' Home.

Mrs. Harry Bowen and Mrs. Lucille Taylor testified that about 10 a. m. July 13. Newton visited the Bowen home and invited Mrs. Bowen's husband to go to town for beer. When they returned, the minister, who appeared tired and nervous, remarked that he had not slept the night before.

Noticing two rings on Mrs. Taylor's fingers, he drew from his gold setting, and said: "I have a pretty diamond, too." Both women bserved that one of the prongs of the Tiffany setting was worn. Mr. and Mrs. Bowen, friends of the Newton family for years, belonged to his congregation before he was replaced by another pastor. Patrolman Bailey Brower of Hannibal testified that he found heel hairpins and "what appeared to be $1930 the day after Mrs. Kelly's a small piece of human skull" body was found. In their testimony, Dr. Broeder and Feltz told highly varying sto-ries of the events which led up to the day last March when Feltz dein his office. The doctor gave him a marked $20 bill, after which Feltz was arrested by city detectives hiding in an adjoining room.

Dr. Broeder testified that Feltz's wife suddenly kissed him in his private office one day when she was there for treatment of a cold, and that following this Feltz made varying demands for money on him. He said he paid $40 in two instalments. Mrs. Feltz denied from the witness stand that she kissed Dr. Broeder, and charged that on one occasion he made advances to her while giving her a hypodermic injection Feltz's testimony was to the effect that all of the suggestions for payment of money came from the doc-tor, who, Feltz said, was embarrassed about certain events which had happened in his office. She made frequent visits to his study, Johnston promised to prove. He concluded by assuring the jury that evidence would show Newton's unsuccessful efforts to wash bloodstains from the floor of his car; that a $10 bill of the same series as those given to Mrs. Kelly at the bank, was found in his pocket when he was arrested; that he knew she was preparing to leave her husband.

The Mayors also recommended passage of the Lea Natural Gas Bill, now before Congress, "so that municipalities may be aided in their efforts to obtain lower gas rates."

The resolution added that "the Secretary of Interior be requested to assist in conserving natural gas resources by assigning an expert to assist interested cities locate and obtain natural gas supplies at low cost, so that waste of natural gas may be eliminated through the economic marketing thereof."

Works Progress Administrator Harry L. Hopkins, speaking to the Mayors late yesterday, defended the work-relief program against proposals that cheaper, direct relief be substituted.

He criticised those who would "make relief as shameful and degrading as you possibly can, so that people will want to get off," as they say."

"They never have explained how to perform the miracle," he declared. "If you have 5,000,000 un-employed, what are those 5,000,000 going to get off to?

Large Number of Errors. Lautenschlager reported a large number of errors, running about 8 per cent, in the first returns. The most frequent error was in ad-

"Errors were found in the first eight of the 14 questions on the card," Lautenschlager said. Another troublesome misconception, he said, is that of WPA workers that they do not have to fill out the un-employment relief cards. Admin-istrative officials of government work relief agencies fill out special forms for their employes but the employe himself must fill out the regular unemployment census card. To help the illiterate and foreign-hore as well as other persons in

Get action for your money. Do it by following the leader. Today, more men are wearing Park Lane Clothes than any others in the $35 group. Even more important, most of these men are repeaters—third-and-fourth-time buyers. Distinguished style, at a modest price, may have caught their eyes the first time. But only sound quality brought them back. A good first impression, backed-up by thoroughbred performance — there's your yardstick to measure the hearty acceptance accorded these fine clothes. * Your first impulse, on seeing the mirrored reflection of your Park Lane suit or overcoat, will be to reserve it for state occasions. But a glance at the price tag will probably change your mind. For here is one luxury in which you can indulge every day of the year. Park Lane Clothes, tailored in our own Rochester plant,

Federal Attorney Tells Jury Hoodlums Were Brought to Factory to "Create Bloodshed."

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 17 .-The prosecution charged today at the trial of James H. Rand Jr. and plant to "create bloodshed, to turn public opinion against the strikers and to use this for the basis of an injunction."

Charles H. Carr, special Government prosecutor, alleged in his summation that as far back as 1926 Rand hired Bergoff to send many of the same men that went to Middletown to other plants but that they were not then termed "millwrights." Rand, president of Remington-

Rand, Inc., and Bergoff, are being tried on charges of violating the Federal anti-streakbreaking law. Carr referred to testimony concerning a conversation between Rand and Bergoff on a train from Stamford to Middletown in which it was testified Bergoff called his men tough.

"When Bergoff says tough," the prosecutor told the jury, "he means tough. He means racketeers, the worst type of Bowery rat, the type you people in Connecticut should stay up nights to keep out of the State."

George H. Cohen, Bergoff's chief defense counsel, protested that such references were "unwarranted on the evidence" and prejudicial to his client. Judge Carroll C. Hincks warned Carr to be more The defense rested unexpectedly on a regularly scheduled run from Newark, N. J., to Oakland, Cal., near Humpy Ridge, Utah. All on board—16 passengers and three members of the crew—were killed. The department's Investigating Committee said the accident was a combination of three factors: static conditions encountered in the last portion of the flight which rendered the reception of radio range signals unintelligible; the range signals unintelligible; the continuation of the flight into mountainous country at an altitude below the higher peaks without the aid of ground visibility, or radio signals to definitely identify position, and a change in the weather.

The board's report said the pilot was flying at between 10,000 feet and 10,400 feet between Cheyenne and Sait Lake City when he and Salt Lake City when he crashed.

Members of the investigating board, who attended Secretary Roper's press conference, said that in their opinion the accident could have been avoided had the pilot sought a higher altitude or an alternate landing field. No mention was made of this, however, in the official report.

They're After Max Again.

MAX SCHMELING'S opponents haven't been able to damage him materially but unless Lady Luck "pulls" some of her blows, she'll have Maxie punch-drunk, ere long. The Old Dame handed the German another smack Monday through the anti-Nazi Association.

The Antis pulled the old boycott out of the bag again and are using it to put the jinx on Max's tune-up fight with Harry Thomas, set for Dec. 13 at New York. It must be discouraging when, after making 14 trips across the Atlantic, you run into a wallop like that.

However, Maxie is going to keep his chin up, Mike Jacobs is going ahead with the fight and that, perhaps, will test the power of the anti-Nazi threat. In the current case the boycott likely will fail of real effect because Madison Square Garden can handle only 18,000 custor ers. In a population area of several millions that number of interested persons should not be difficult to

The test may serve to decide whether New York or some other city will get the title fight between Louis and Schmeling next June. Even a slight demonstration of anti-Nazi influence may drive the promotion to Philadelphia, Chicago or perhaps Detroit.

A ND, there is something else to be considered about this June championship. That is, whether Max will be the one to face Joe Louis. This Thomas is no weakling, although he lacks the experience of Schmeling. And Old Father Time and a hostile Lady Luck may both be fighting on the side of Thomas against the German. However, none of the experts seems to be giving the idea much of a tumble. Fate could hardly play that dirty a trick on Schmeling who has always been a hard-trying, conscientious workman. And imagine the dismay Mike Jacobs if the greatest nat ural fight on the horizon, that | between a champion and the man who knocked him out, should be spoiled by a second-rater. Stranger things have happened. Apparently one was when Schmeling knocked over Louis!

Off the Record.

A LTHOUGH the late Champion Jack McAuliffe is generally regarded as having been unde-feated—the record books show him to be such-Sec Taylor, of the Des Moines Register produces in evidence to the contrary one Philadelphia Tommy Ryan a battler who fought around St Louis some 35 years or so ago Tommy was no champion while fighting here-just a good journeyman.

He told Taylor in Des Moines and produced clippings in support of his statements, that he fought and beat McAuliffe in 1897, one year after McAuliffe is supposed to have retired undefeated! "Ring Battles of Centuries." an all-time record book, notes after McAuliffe's fights in 1896: "Re tired Undefeated." It lists one other bout-an exhibition with Dick Burge of England several years later.

As Ryan Tells It.

Commenting on the fight Ryan told Taylor: "I received little credit for winning from McAuliffe because the New York papers were highly partisan. Seabiscuit, beaten by a nose by William du Pont's Rosemont in the 1937 Santa Anita, finished the season with $168,642 winnings buthe Admiral retired undefeated in eight starts and with a comfortable nestegg of $166,500.

The two horses never met. But the Howard stable can point to one comparison in their favor. Sea-biscuit won the Riggs Handicap at ore at one and three-sixteenth miles, packing 130 pounds and set a track record of 1:57 2-5. War Admiral won the Pimlico special at the same distance, carrying 128 pounds but in 1:58 4-5.

The probability of their engaging in a duel here already has the Santa Anita crowd dreamy-eyed. There will be some other good horses in the $100,000 affair, too—horses like Pompoon, Heelfly, Top Row and Indian Broom.

SPRINT EVENT FOR JUVENILES AT BOWIE GOES TO NANSEMOND

BOWIE, Md., Nov. 17 .- A daughter and son of Bud Lerner finished one, two in the Crescentia Purse, a six furolng juvenile test for Maryland-breds that command ed chief interest here today. Nansemond, a brown filly owned by Howard Bruce, Baltimore banker, was an easy winner by three lengths, while R. C. Thatcher's O'Buddy coming from far back, earned the place in a photo finish with Jouett Shouse's Joanny.

Nansemond, a photo winner over Joanny at Pimlico despite bad rac-ing luck, and before that third in the Selima Stakes at Laurel, was ridden by Johnny Longden leading pilot at the meeting. combination was held in high es-teem, paying odds of 9 to 10. Over track, Nansemo- finished in 1:15 flat.

Nansemond Away Fast. Nansemond broke fast this time and, after a brief duel with Joanny drew into a substantial advantag over the Questionnaire filly as they cricled the bend. Carrying equal weights as they did in their recent meeting, it seemed that the pair would have the running between them to the wire. But Kenneth McCombs finally got O'Buddy to running after turning into the home lane. The colt closed with a great rush on the outside to nip Ben. Joanny at the wire. Nansemond had increased her lead and won as Longden pleased. Ghost Queen, one of the comparative few fortunate enough to get away well in a bad start, outfooted a large field of two-year-old platers as the card began here today. The Dunlin filly opened up a command-ing lead while disposing of Big Wind, but had to be hard ridden to survive the strong challenge or Mon Doit, which lost by a head.

Room service, chief victim of the bad start, ran a remarkable race to finish third, a half length behind. The favored Songstop was fourth, after a poor getaway. The winner's time for the six furlongs was 1:16 1-5, made over a track still not at its best. Ghost Queen paid $27.60. Another unruly bunch of horses lined up for the second event, in which maiden three-year-olds and apward went to the post. Spotless, the $6.30 choice, made the grade by a nose in a photo finish with Clear Heels, while Secret Chatter, an alleged "good thing," was a tired third, a half dozen lengths away. #### He Saw Plenty.

THE late Jack O'Connor, Rowdy Jack" to his friends in the days when the Spiders and the Orioles were battling for the Temple Cup, saw many changes in the baseball rules, from his to his death a few days ago.

The pitching distance was al-tered, the "rubber" displaced the pitcher's "box," the number of "balls" required to walk a batter was changed more than once, he saw the catcher moved up behind the bat from a position which once enabled him to take the ball on the bounce; he saw the foul batters like McGraw and Keeler from fouling off pitches all afternoon; he saw the "spitter" come and go, the number of umpires increased from one lone official to as high as four, in champion ball give rise to the most famous Babe Ruth and he lived to learn that a baseball player could command a salary greater than that of the President of the United States. He saw the day when a world series produced more than $1,000,000 in gate receipts.

But, in spite of all the changes that have been made since Jack first joined the St. Joe Western League club, the great American game remains substantially the same in all fundamentals, as was 50 years ago.

He Did Pretty Well.

O'CONNOR saw three baseball wars—and profited by them, too. The brief flurry afforded by the Brotherhood was his first experience. That did not last. The big war came in 1901 when Ban Johnson was driving deep into the National League prestige with his "American League." Jack was with the Pittsburgh club at the time and Johnson sought his aid to raid the Pirate team for his New York American League club. O'Connor completed the deal whereby several stars of the Pirates including Leach, Conroy and the great spitball pitcher Jack Chesbro, jumped to the New York Americans, O'Connor was paid $40,000 that yearfour times the highest amount he received for any season before or afterwards.

O'Connor also saw brief service in the Federal League of 1912 as manager of the St. Louis team. That was his last baseball service. O'Connor's payroll for the various years in which he saw baseball service is interesting. It proves that players were pretty well paid, even 40 years ago. From 1899 O'Connor never drew less than $5000 annually and on one occasion, as manager of the Browns in 1910, he was paid $10,-000. His 26 years of baseball service netted him altogether more than $150,000.

Here's the O'Connor payroll through the years of his service to Organized Baseball:

NEW PAROLE SYSTEN

Credit Allowance for Good Behavior and File for All Inmates Discussed.

By the Jefferson City Correspond ent of the Post-Dispatch. JEFFERSON CITY, Nov. 17 .-

Plans for improvement of the parole system for the intermediate reformatory at Algoa, including a new merit system of credit allowshment of a parole application file for each of the approximately 550 inmates of the institution, were discussed at a conference yesterday afternoon between members of the Parole and Superintendent G. C. Clevenger of the reformatory.

Lieutenant-Governor Frank G. Harris, chairman of the board, said the plans were tentative so far, but the new system would be worked out as soon as possible.

"Our immediate objective is to give every man in the reformatory an equal hearing, without discrimination, and to set up a parole application record for all of the inmates," Harris said.

Working Out Merit System. The merit system, which will include a sliding scale of deductions from sentence, for good behavior and merit, is being worked out, Clevenger said, and will be submitted to the board later for approval.

One decision reached was that the parole board would select the inmates whose parole applications will be docketed for hearings, from records to be compiled concerning each inmate.

Factors which will be considered in selecting parole applicants for hearings will include length of sentence, nature of the offense, the general record of the inmate before he was sent to the reformatory, his ecord in the institution, and en vironment if paroled, including his ome, probable employment, associates and recreational outlets.

How Old System Worked. Under the former system reform atory inmates who had applied for paroles were selected by the re formatory probation officer for hearings, before a board made up of the superintendent of the reformatory, a member of the State Penal Board and a member of the Attorney-General's staff. Parole recommendations by this board were sent to the Governor for approval.

The new system is being estab lished under an act passed by the 1937 Legislature, effective last Sept. 6, creating the State Board of Probation and Parole. This board has supervision of parole matters for all of the five State penal institutions and has authority to create a staff of probation officers to supervise persons paroled from State penal institutions, during the period of probation. All parole recommen

Harry Repple, St. Louis bootlegger who said he paid $25 a month for protection to George L. Diehl, then an East St. Louis city detective, testified in Diehl's defense this afternoon that Repple had threatened to frame the detective.

Diehl is on trial before a jury in the court of United States District Judge John C. Collett, charged with conspiracy to the violate the innal revenue laws.

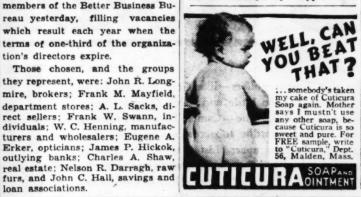

Before the testimony about Repple's threat, the defense presented evidence that Diehl, working as a detective from 3 p. m. until 11 p. m. in East St. Louis, had a job as a boilermaker in Alton from midnight to 8 a. m. from a short time before Thanksgiving day, 1935, until January, 1936.

Bury at Outside Job.

This was the period within which Repple and the East St. Louis distributer of his illicit alcohol, John Buchanan, had testified concerning several conversations with Diehl relative to protection and Buchanan's employment by Repple. The defense testimony about the boilermaker's job was intended, apparently, to show that Diehl was too busy during that period to have had any such conversations as those described.

Paul Crutchfield and Garritt Van Wyck, associates of Repple who pleaded guilty of the conspiracy Monday and were sentenced to two years in prison, gave the testimony about Repple's threat to frame

Crutchfield and Van Wyck tesfied that late in 1935 Diehl, after stopping an automobile in which they and Repple were riding around in East St. Louis and searching it but finding no alcohol, told them to get out of town and say out. Repple's threats were made after that incident, they said. Both testified that they were present, and Diehl was not, when Repple arranged with Buchanan to handle his alcohol on East St. Louis. This contradicted testimony given for the Government by Repple and after his indictment last March had been a "good conscientious officer." The testimony about Diehl's job as a boilermaker was given by Leo Quick, business agent of the boiler-makers' union in East St. Louis, and by James Lovejoy, who said he was foreman of the job in Alton on which Diehl worked.

The committee's plan contemplates an amendment to the State Constitution which would enable the Governor to appoint Judges of courts of record, except county courts (administrative bodies), from nominees submitted by judiciary commissions composed of lawyers and laymen. The power of recall would be vested in the voters and the appointers would so before recall would be vested in the voters and the appointees would go before the electorate for retention or rejection after a specified period in office, usually within two years.

In retrospect it will appear that we save direct aid and comfort to the enemy. It is far easier to control five to seven men (the judiciary commissions) than to control five to seven o seven hundred thousand voters. There are still more good people than bad and the old axiom of safety in numbers holds true."

Question of Removal. Eagleton went on to assert that a Judge could not be removed under the plan even though a majorlty voted against his retention. The provides that a Judge shall

Explains Its Loan Policy

Occasionally we hear it said that banks are unwilling to lend money. At Mississippi Valley Trust Company nothing is farther from the truth. Our constant alertness to the demand for loans is indicated by our total loans of more than thirty-six million dollars-representing a substantial increase during the past twelve months. When an application for a loan is made with us, it is given careful consideration, whether the amount in question is $500 or $500,000, for business or for personal use—and consideration of every loan is based on the standards of sound banking practice.

The Park Service would then have on its hands part of a proposed memorial site, with no money to wreck the buildings and clear the land, to say nothing of funds to develop a park commemorating the Louisiana Purchase and the great deeds of the Western pioneers.

It was to forestall just such a situation that the Government some time ago altered its tactics toward acquiring the property. #### MR. FARLEY MISDIRECTS A LETTER.

An amusing incident was created when Postmaster-General Farley wrote a bread-and-butter letter to a Sheriff in the Grand Coulee Dam country and thoughtlessly addressed it to "Wenatchee, Wis." Sheriff Tom Cannon got the letter in Wenatchee, Wash., where he lives, and extracted his quota of amusement from it. "I wonder where Mr. Farley thinks the Grand Coulee Dam is situated," he wisecracked. And as to Farley's line about "a real pleasure to meet you on my recent trip to Wisconsin," the genial Sheriff responded, "I bet it was."

We cannot let the incident pass merely as a humorous trifle in the news, however. Always seeking the inner meanings and the significant underlying factors of things, we probe this little happening to its roots and come up with a profound moral and politico-scientific lesson: that the superiority of civil service over the spoils system has been proved again. Mr. Farley, who misdirected the letter, or dictated its misdirection, is a political appointee. An uniden-Sullivan, a brother of Dr. Francis Sullicities Sullici and got the letter safely to its intended destination, is a civil service employe. Verb sap.

Uncle Sam-Patron of Art

Relief project giving work to several thousand jobless painters and sculptors is credited with fostering a "Renaissance of American art"; Government buildings, formerly decorated by foreign painters, or those trained abroad, now give work to native artists; incidents of everyday life or of national history chiefly depicted.

From the Pathfinder.

TUST as unemotionally as it buys rugs or bird's-eye diaper cloth, the United States Government buys paintings—by the square

In Washington, for 150 years, no artist had put brush to Federal walls unless he was an Italian, or had studied at the American Academy in Rome, or "knew somebody." Today, in America, the most important artistic development in the nation's history is taking place.

For the first time in its history, the Amer ican Government is hiring American artists to paint contemporary America, hiring them not for their reputation or their political connections, but for their ability. For the first time, Uncle Sam is playing uncle to artists as well as farmers and business men. Heartened by proof that they are not misfits in society but have something their Government wants, artists all over the country are painting in a burst of energy which some observers call "the new Renaissance."

An artist, like a plumber, has nothing to sell but the product of his labor. When there is no one to buy that product, the artist starves, just as painfully as the plumber. The difference is that, even in depressions, pipes freeze or clog and plumbers have to he hired; but no one has to hire an artist. In the past, the great patrons of art have been governments and wealthy individuals. In America, up to 1933, the Gov ket was limited. When the Capitol was being decorated in 1849, for example, Congress imported a mediocre Italian painter. Constantino Brumidi, at $10 a day and expenses. Mark Twain once called the capital's paintings and sculptures "the delirium tre-mens of art." They were in his day, and still are, predominantly of two types: allegorical, like Brumidi's, and historical, like the big paintings hung on the walls of the Capitol rotunda. These, by John Trumbull, have a certain historical interest, but are drab and lifeless in style. Most Federal painters were imports, like Brumidi, or politically influential, like Trumbull.

Limited for so long in a Government market, American painters were no less limited in their private market. The late Andrew Mellon, who last December gave the nation his $20,000,000 collection of old masters, never bought the work of a living

These were the conditions in December. 1933, when the New Deal, discovering that artists had been harder hit by the depression than any other professional class, became the greatest art patron of modern times.

Government art patronage is now under two distinct agencies, both separate in function. One is the W P A arts project, concerned with the relief of needy artists. The other is the Bureau of Painting and Sculpture in the Treasury, concerned with the purchase of the best contemporary art for future generations. W P A's function is the human one of employing 3700 painters and sculptors (5312 at the peak of employment last Dec. 15). It is an emergency measure. The Treasury Department Painting and Sculpture has different problem, that of securing "suitable art of the best quality available for the embellishment of public buildings." Founded

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Nov. 17 .--The National Broadcasting Co. pre-sented the problem of social dis-eases to a radio audience last night in a carefully worded address by Dr. Morris Fishbein, editor of the Journal of the American Medical

Dr. Fishbein's message was that that scientific knowledge, with the co-operation of the public, was adequate to bring them under control.

Introduced by Johnson. His remarks were broadcast at the invitation of the radio system "to emphasize the NBC sympathy with the current campaign against social diseases and to illuminate its policy." Last Wednesday NBC can-celed a broadcast by Gen. Hugh on on the same subject. John son, however, was asked to intro-duce Dr. Fishbein. His introduction was picked up from Washington. In inviting the Chicago physician to speak from here, President Len bein, as a physician and editor, was familiar with the problems sur-rounding network broadcasting on the topic of social diseases.

"Radio reaches the whole family," Lohr telegraphed. "It is our feeling that only persons who, like yourself, are authoritative on the subject and who also are experinced in speaking on it, are qualified to present the material in Narrow Range to Prices as Traders Await Clearer Indications of Washington Legislative Attitude.

By the Associated Pross. NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—Selected 30 shares staged a half-hearted rally 20 in the stock market today, but many slipped in the final hour and the session, as a whole, was indeterminate.

Both gains and losses, on the whole, were measured in fractions. although there were a few wide swings in either direction.

The pace was the slowest in tweeks ago— 66.3 tweeks, as traders awaited clearer indications of the Washington legislative attitude. Transactions to taled about 750,000 shares.

In-and-out buying and selling was apparently the day's order, with the market, in the absence of any positive news developments, struggling between bearish and Some tax switching was noted

A disposition was evident to take losses on industries likely to continue at reduced activity. Steel, aircraft and copper shares were in most demand, but failed to gain much ground.

Brokers were heartened by reorts Congress seemed disposed to offer some sort of aid to business, was the keynote. Wheat Booms 5 Cents.

Bonds were uneven and narrow in a quiet market. Wheat boomed at Chicago, touching the limit of 5 cents a bushel permitted for a day's trading and finishing 4½ cents Advances – Declines – Unchanged— Higher much of the time were New 1937

'MIDDLE COURSE' ON CROP CONTROL

After Explaining "Ever- 419 in the last fiscal year. Normal Granary."

washington, Nov. 17.—Secretary Wallace advised Senators today to adopt a "middle course" between extreme compulsory control and voluntary control over farm production and marketing under the In spite of all that has been written

Senators on the committee said Southerners probably would write cotton, tobacco and rice sections while the outline of the Pope-Mc-Gill bill would be followed for corn and wheat. This measure follows administration ideas for an "evernormal granary."

Tolerance Is Urged.

Before Wallace led a group of farm administration officials and farm organization leaders before the Senate committee, to explain provisions of the Pope-McGill bill, Chairman Jones (Dem.), Texas, of the House committee called for "patience and tolerance" during the work of writing a farm bill.

He proposed that Congress enact a bill following "a middle course" between the extremes of "unreasoning reduction" and production "in unlimited quantities."

Chairman Pierce (Dem.), Oregon, Meanwhile called his wheat subcommittee into closed meeting early in the day to attempt to draft proand rice production.

By dividing into sub-committees after failing as a unit to draft a farm measure, the House Agricultural Committee resorted to the expedient of dealing separately with each of the five basic commodities-wheat, cotton, corn, rice and tobacco-in order to give Congress a start on the administration pro-

Voluntary Cotton Plan. Later Representative Pierce said his subcommittee was rewriting wheat provisions of the House farm bill "to make them more amenable to control of a possible surplus crop next year."

The new section, he added, would carry a provision for "small benefit payments" to farmers co-operating n an acreage reduction program.

A separate sub-committee will deal with each of five commodities -wheat, cotton, corn, rice and to-

A sub-committee headed by Fulmer (Dem.), South Carolina, pre pared a "voluntary" control program for cotton. The plan provides (1) That the Secretary of Agriculture decide from year to year, within certain limits, the total national acreage to be planted to cot-

(2) That this acreage be split up mong the present cotton states or the basis of average acreage and production.

(3) That the State acreage, In like manner, be allocated to counties and subdivisions growing cotton prior to 1938.

(4) That the local acreage be allotted to individual producers on the basis of tilled land. Fulmer said that soil conservation enefits, crop loans and price subsidies would be paid to farmers for compliance. Those who refused or overplanted would get no payments. House leaders declined to say when debate on the farm bill could begin. Senators hope to have their bill ready next week.

Pope's Idea on Granary. Considerable sentiment has deeloped among southern Senators for strict acreage control for cot which the Agriculture Department estimated would have a rec ord production of 18,243,000 bales this year.

Senator Pope (Dem.), Idaho, said a provision for mandatory acreage control not only over cotton, but over tobacco and possibly rice, was being prepared by southern mem-

He said Wallace's ideas of an ever-normal granary for wheat and corn probably would be retained in the Senate bill. This would mean a compulsory control over market ing of wheat and corn when reserve supplies were judged excessive, if a majority of farmers producing corn or wheat approved.

Pope said he believed this method of having different programs for different crops would win general support for the entire program.
Several Senators, including Mc-Nary (Rep.), Oregon, and Capper (Rep.), Kansas, disapproved compulsory provisions in the ever-normal granary system.

Traffic on busy streets is measured in millions of carmiles annually—and millions of car stops. Can you make these stops swiftly, surely, with least possible skidding? You can if your streets are concrete. Concrete's gritty surface grips and holds tires, offers maximum traction in any weather. Its uniform riding surface gives you driving confidence—a further safety aid. And at night, concrete's lightgray, highly visible color makes your streets safer for motorist and pedestrian alike.

For economy, for good appearance—and for safety—insist on concrete.

Dear Mrs. Carr: THIS is in reply to E. M. S.'s letter, which appeared in your

You said that you wanted to hear from us girls. Well, here's my answer and you probably won't agree with me.

I'm 19 years old, not bad looking, I smoke and drink to a certain extent. I don't pet and don't intend to, but I've found out that that's the only way for a girl to be popular these days. I don't go to dance halls and never have. I know quite a few fellows but as each and every one of them has told me, I won't get along in this world unless I pet, at least a little.

One by one the boy friends have drifted away, not that I care in the least, but it has been for one rea-You won't believe this, but it's true. I'm a pretty good conversationalist, have a sense of humor, can dance to a certain extent and have the ability to make an evening very enjoyable for some male. It's all O. K. until that homeward journey begins. They always seem to have to pass a park to take me home. It would be fine if they'd pass it, but no, they always have to go in. Then the trouble begins and that's where the good time ends. It's always the same and un-til I meet a new friend and go out with him once or twice, I home. They don't worry me but you asked for an answer and that's just what I'm giving you. You're just 16 now, but I'd be willing to wager that when you get to be about 20, you'll be just the same as the rest. None of you males is different. It's just the same old story that will live on un-til the end of time. You'll probably say that if I didn't smoke or drink the boys wouldn't try to get fresh. Don't kid yourself. Fve tried that and sat home too often. There are very few of your kind left in this world and I hope some day I have the good fortune to run into one just like you. If I do, I'm afraid I'll faint from the shock. If I'm not badly mistaken, you'll get quite a few answers like this one.

I'm just being frank and I don't care how many people read this, but I can truthfully say that the

My Dear Mrs. Carr: WOULD you please give me a few suggestions for a birthday gift for a boy 16 years old.

Also, this year I am buying my Christmas gifts very early and I would like your suggestion on this one. I have as friends a family whom I love very dearly. Answer: You should pass. A dou-

Hence, despite your strength against the two diamond bid, you must, at least temporarily, hold your peace. (Two points demerit for any call other

YOUR FORMAL EDUCATION

By Dale Carnegie

TO GET all you can in the way of a formal education in your youth will make it easi-er for you to attain success provided you don't rely too much on it. After all, book learning is just a stepping stone; you've got to do the stepping. Mark Twaih left school when he was but 11 years old. But his education did not stop. He read incessantly.

Cleveland Rodgers, editor of the Brooklyn Daily Eagle, left school in the fourth grade. But Mr. Rodgers is one of the best informed men I know. And when I say "best informed," I don't mean that he has merely read a lot of books and papers. I mean that he has read them with thought and foresight; in other words, he has digested them. Don Marquis, columnist, humorist, poet, playwright, and one of the few among our contemporaries whose name is likely to go down in the annals of American literature, is not a colearly age and went to work on a nev spaper in Washington, D. C. I used to think in talking with Don that he felt he lacked something because he had not had a college education—but none of his associates ever sensed a lack.

High school and college can be invaluable aids. You will get a good start through attending them, provided you don't sit back and depend upon your diploma to take you through life.

Do you expect to have stored up a fund of knowledge from the many experiences that have come into your life? Or do you think that just because the think that just because the years have passed you have sud-denly forgotten all you now is an immense moral stimu-lus. The Guards do it better and more frequently than others, and because of that and because of the fact that their daily responsibilities concerning the safety of the Sovereign create the spirit of "Do or Die" within them, they fail less than others. Yet, even they have to do a bit of unrehearsed shooting out of hand on occasion.

Then why not recognize that, after all, the old folks of your acquaintance must know something. They have had the experiences you hope to have.

Indeed it is very doubtful if the most highly trained, longservice troops in the world would stand up to modern war

-if the shadow of the death penalty did not always loom in the distance and the fear of the consequences of misbehavior in face of the enemy was not constantly held in mind. Inciden-tally, if every General had made it his business to live with troops most of the time and become one of them, their jobs would have been less eagerly sought after, and there would have arisen "for the duration" that kind of command of formations which would have been irresistible, crude, selfless, sympathetic, and above all, reliable,

HOW THE LINES ARE HELD

ALWAYS had in my battalion a man who was ready to shoot to hold the line. I had in my brigade seven of the type in 1917, to get hold of whom I had to keep casting "respectable" regular Colonels until I found what I wanted. The casting was severe; the net was wide. It meant sending a dozen qualified regulars about their business, one after the other, just because they lacked that essential "It"—that mentality so necessary for safety in time of var. The particular mentality is not found on parade grounds or in barracks. It simply exists somewhere, everywhere, any-where, unnoticed, dormant. History does not record it; regular armies disown it—even if "It" did make most of the Generals of repute during the war. It is not and cannot ever be taught. One might as well begin to imagine the practising of an ex-ecution, in peace time, on the barracks square, or the rehears-ing of the shooting out of hand of a Divisional Commander with the wind up at an Aldershot Tat-Personally, I think that the noncombatant chaplains, unarmed and unafraid, disapproving of the whole performance yet willing to run every risk in the performance of their Christian duties as missioners, ful-fill the priestly obligations which Jesus Himself would have fulfilled and which He would have liked His disciples to perform. But this Welsh chaplain was doing

"for fun" what most of us were heartily sick of doing in grim necessity. I simply took the rifle away from him, unloaded it, handed it to the sergeant, and asked the chaplain to lunch with me. In privacy we had it out. And I came to the conclusion that the man should never have been a clergyman at all.

I was driven to tell him so.

There is a sequel. He renounced his vocation and joined up as a private. He did quite well, and I was told that he had the finest flow of language in the regiment, which, being Welsh, was saying a

Answer: I would say that your breakfast ought to be unusually light-since half past 10 in the morning would at most be within three hours of every one's own very heavy Thanksgiving dinner at home. If I were you I would choose a menu that would serve as an appetizer for the heavy midday meals that are sure to follow. I think it would be best to treat it as a breakfast typical of the menu we eat every day, and instead of or-ange juice, make the orange juice into a fruit punch (unless you are serving champagne), and I would have breakfast coffee with small, or sausages, but I think this too heavy. There should be a wedding cake, of course, from which each of the guests can cut themselves small slivers to take home.

Dear Mrs. Post: I personally have never met the mother of my daughter's fiance. My daughter goes to their house often and his mother has given her many pretty things for her trousseau. Time is drawing nearer to think of the wedding arrangements and I wonder just what will be the best way for the two families to get together to talk over the wedding lists. It would seem so much easier to make sure that every one was satsfied beforehand. Will it be propgroom's mother to our house or ught I to offer to go to see her. I have been hesitating to make any

Boil apples. Cool and stuff them with cranberry jelly. Then top them with cream cheese. Serve with French dressing. Mold cranberry jelly into a ring. When it is thoroughly chilled unmold. Fill the center with ripe olives and celery

Those who know the unusual flavor of fresh cranberries will order Eatmor Cranberries that are on sale at fruit and grocery stores now.

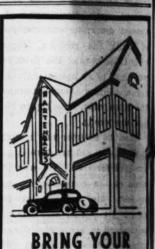

Cranberry Sauce is easily and quickly made this way.

TEN-MINUTE CRANBERRY SAUCE (4 cups) cranberries 11/2 to 2 cups sugar

METHOD: Boll segar and water together 5 minutes; add cranberries and boil without string (5 minutes is usually sufficient) until all the skins pop open. Remove from the fire when the popping stops, and allow the sauce to remain in vessel undisturbed until cool.

Don't bully constipation!

Your intestines don't care for corporal punishment! Yet many purgatives over-stimulate them. That's why you suffer from griping. Why not pass up the pills and purgatives for a natural laxative food? Eat Kellogg's All-Bran.

If you have common constinafood? Eat Kellogg's All-Bran.

If you have common constipation, All-Bran will keep you "regular" as the clock's tick—but so differently from medicines. Instead of over-stimulating your intestines, it gives them TWO things they need and want. First, All-Bran supplies "bulk"—it absorbs water agd softens like a sponge. This water-softened mass aids elimination. Next it gives you the is the vitamin that tones your intestinal tract and promotes a healthy movement. These things healthy movement. These things are just as good for you as they are effective. Kellogg's All-Bran is a crunchy, toasted cereal. Eat it with milk or cream and fruits. Also makes marvelous muffins, But, however marvelous muffins. But, however you eat it, use it regularly. Follow this Daily Routine: use two tablespoons of All-Bran and drink plenty of water. If you do this every day you can avoid common constipation and cathartics, tool Every grocer sells All-Bran. WASHINGTON, Nov. 18,-The buster against the anti-lynching ill, now in its third day, was remed as the Senate convened today but not before Senators con rned over threatened repeal of pration taxes and dwindling Federal revenues debated briefly

Federal revenues debated briefly the tax problem.

As Senator Josiah Bailey (Dem.), North Carolina, prepared to begin at the point in his filibuster speech at which he left off late yesterday, Senator Borah (Rep.), Idaho, interrupted with a request for an explanation of recent hints that the Administration would turn to either a sales tax or broadening of the base of the income tax to make up for revenues lost if and when corporation taxes are repealed.

Borah read from a newspaper acheunt of a statement made by Senator Pat Harrison (Dem.), Missis-pi, chairman of the Senate Fi m was quoted as saying it would necessary to turn to broader it me taxes or the sales tax. Ha n was promptly on his feet an sy yielded the floor long enoug flow him to reply to Borah. Harrison's Explanation. do not want the Senate t nink I am in favor of a manufac-urers mies tax," Harrison said. "A odification of the undistributed rofits tax will not take us into the House is preparing to advocate eal of the capital stock tax. That would mean, said Harrison, loss of $140,000,000 in revenues which would have to be replaced from another source. He said that he was opposed to repeal of this tax. "There has been less complaint and Means Committee will not fol-low that policy."

He added that he had opposed he planket undistributed profits tax when the measure was before his committee but he had been voted down by Senators who favoted down by Senators who fa-vored this administration measure. He had argued at the time, he told the Senators

He had argued at the time, he told the Senate, that the undistributed porfits tax should apply only above 30 per cent of profits accumulated in any year.

Borah's Comment.

"We know that corporation taxes may be passed on to the consumer," Borah said, "but with the sales tax there is no doubt whatsoever. It falls upon the person who is least falls upon the person who is least able to pay."

With this brief exchange about taxation, which is the problem that really concerns most members of be second that was started to filibuster that was started on he second day of this extra ses-ion. How long it may last no one would predict with any certainty, although there was some possibility that it might end with the introuction of a farm bill the first of ext week.

While most Senators, including lose who are filibustering against be bill, agree that the anti-lynching measure will be passed this session, there was speculation as to whether the Southern bloc would allow it to go through now or wait until after passage of the "must" arm bill. It is conservatively estimated that there are 70 votes in ed that there are 70 votes in vor of the Wagner anti-lynching
